Classic Dash Introduces Panel For 1963-67 'Vette

Owners of 1963-67 Corvette Stingrays can now benefit from contemporary dashboard instrumentation thanks to a new series of UV resistant ABS panels from industry leader Classic Dash. The stock "leather grain" dash can easily be replaced with matte black, brushed aluminum or carbon fiber finished panels with a choice of 15 Auto Meter or Thunder Road gauge styles that range from high tech to classic. They are also available plain.

The panels come with two 4-5/8" openings for a large 5" full sweep tachometer and speedometer, plus four 2-1/16" apertures for auxiliary gauges. Most Corvette enthusiasts prefer short sweep oil pressure, water temperature, voltage and fuel level gauges similar to stock—although others are available. They are a bolt-in replacement for the OEM panel, and accommodate factory accessories and trim.

Only commonly available tools are needed for the installation, and it can typically be performed in an afternoon by a competent do-it-yourselfer. A complete dashboard wiring kit that integrates into the OEM harness is available and comes with a detailed 24-page instruction booklet.

For additional information visit the firm's newly revamped website at www.ClassicDash.com, or call 775-883-7904. Classic Dash is an industry leader in providing instrumentation solutions for 1960s, 70s, 80s and 90s muscle cars, classic trucks and later model enthusiast vehicles.
