

MANLEY PERFORMANCE DEBUTS 2018 SPORT COMPACT CATALOG

Noted internal engine components manufacturer Manley Performance has become a favorite of tuners the world over thanks to an ever-expanding line of premium grade products for Sport Compact applications. With the company now making parts for a dozen import marques, plus familiar U.S. brands, a new catalog was created specifically for the Sport Compact high performance engine components market.

This new 52-page publication details Manley's extensive line of stainless steel valves for normally aspirated and boosted engines, valve springs, lightweight titanium retainers, Platinum Series forged aluminum pistons and a huge assortment of 4340 forged steel connecting rods—including the new Tri-Beam design 300M Turbo Tuff® rods that can handle 2,000+ horsepower.

And with the addition of premium forged and billet steel crankshafts Manley has come up with a collection of complete rotating assemblies for many popular engine combinations. These factory-matched packages include the crank, rods and pistons, plus Total Seal piston rings and ACL bearings.
