

CLASSIC DASH INTRODUCES 28 NEW APPLICATIONS IN SIX MONTHS!

Custom dashboard manufacturer Classic Dash has introduced no less than 28 new models in the past six months. Long known for adapting aftermarket gauge packages to muscle cars and classic trucks, Classic Dash has come to embrace digital instrumentation and expand into off-road and competition applications as well.

Classic Dash president Greg Wambold explains, “We’ve moved into larger quarters, expanded our production capabilities and acquired sophisticated new scanning equipment that streamlines and perfects the mold making process.” Wambold added, “The increased acceptance of Racepak IQ3 and Holley EFI digital dashes has created a demand, and our molded ABS composite panels provide a durable, easy-to-install solution. Roughly 75% of our new products are for digital dashes.”

All manufacturing is done at Classic Dash’s Carson City, NV facility. In addition to the new Racepak and Holley digital offerings, the company offers instrument panels with Auto Meter, Classic Instrument and Thunder Road gauges. Special wiring kits are also manufactured in-house. For details call 866-882-3525 or visit www.ClassicDash.com
